HAUPTMANN GIVEN DEATH

"Our Town" by J. B. WHITE

The ingenuity of man has finally halted the flow of the mighty Colorado River, which scientists tell us, has been unshackled for 3,000,000 years. The huge steel gate is closed and the greatest dam in the world, rising 727 feet, will impound the waters of the river in a lake that will extend back 115 miles and require three years to be filled. The Boulder Dam under construction since 1930 has been finished ahead of schedule. Power to start the electric work of this project will be generated this year and eventually develop 1,800,000 horse power, three times the capacity of any other source.

The Colorado itself is 1080 miles long with a total drainage area of nearly 300,000 square miles. The world's most spectacular eroison occurs along the source dotted with canyons, cut deep into the earth's granite. The Grand Canyon in Arizona is the greatest scar on the surface of the globe. As a geological phenomena it may be said that in some of its deepest canyons lie the beds of ancient oceans.

There is now pending in Congress the nearly Five Billion Dollar work relief bill from which funds will be allotted for the Brazos project in Texas. Thus are Texans becoming conscious of the vast resources from the Father of Texas waters flowing through 900 miles of territory across the state. Within its water shed live 27 per cent of the state's population. It's importance has been recommended to the President for immediate attention by the National Resources Board. Somewhere in the future an era of progress awaits the flowering of engineering genius when nature, bountiful enough is made to turn its mighty store of energy to man's advantage.

Cameron is going to have an election in early April to elect three aldermen. These elections, especially in off years, have been poor political gestures. They elicit little or no interest. Thus far only one candidate has taken the people into his confidence enough to announce in a newspaper. These offices are important as they relate to Cameron. There will be no Democratic primary. All will run as general candidates. If enough interest were shown a primary could and should be held. A candidate for alderman is about the only office seeker in the body politic who does not have to tell the voters how he stands.

An election is a choosing by the electorate and its privileges represent a long struggle up from the depths. Its processes have been a part of all times and peoples. Strange methods have marked the course of the ballot. Athenian voters cast oyster shell ballots. Roman candidates campaigned in the market place, and even to-day an African tribe may select its chief by spinning a cocoanut. Civilized peoples however, have evolved through the years more representative methods. Perfection might be reached if only the voter could be evolved to a more responsive position with his government.

Senator Bob Poage paints a dark picture. He says that the relief problem is one of "desperate seriousness." There remains less than twenty million dollars in the relief trough at Washington. The Senator says Texas is on the "sucker list" and is the only Southern State to vote bonds and contribute any such amount to supplement federal aid. Already Texas has spent fifteen million dollars for relief. Texas has been discriminated against he says and gives an example by quoting figures from Louisiana. With only one-third the population of Texas, the Kinkfish's principality has given only fourteen hundred dollars of its own money and has received twenty-two million dollars of Federal money.

The men, women and children on relief rolls in the United States now number about twenty million. If this great army of "have-nots" were taken to the Texas plains and planted in a single community a city nearly three times as large as New York

FATHER AND GIRL DEAD IN SHOOTING ON FARM

Joseph Hosek, 54, and his daughter, Vera, 19, are dead following a family dispute that led to a shooting Saturday morning at their farm home near Yarrellton.

Hosek, according to officers, following the quarrel with his family, grabbed his daughter by the arm and shot her three times then turned the gun on himself and snuffed out his life. The girl was brought to a local hospital but died shortly after noon.

Justice Womak Brashear rendered a verdict of suicide after he viewed the body of Hosek shot through the head.

Mrs. Hosek and three children fled from the house when the husband, thought temporarily deranged, began shooting Vera the eldest daughter. Funeral services were held on Sunday with the Leland Green Funeral Home directing arrangements.

P. W. DAVIS CANDIDATE FOR ALDERMAN HERE

P. W. Davis is a candidate for Alderman in the City Government at the election to be held on the first Tuesday in April of 1935. The announcement that he would seek a place on the council was made Tuesday and will be received with interest and enthusiasm by his friends and supporters in the city.

Mr. Davis has been a resident of Cameron for a number of years and has been closely associated with the progress of the city. He is a young man of unusual ability and comes well equipped for the position of Alderman, entertaining definite and progressive ideas which he would seek to incorporate into the management of the city for the welfare of the people.

At the present and for some years he has been a valued employe of the Cameron Compress Company. He is a former commander of the local Legion Post, a world war veteran and his citizenship here has been an impressive record of unselfish service in many instances of

NEW FEATURES FOR THE CAMERON HERALD

New features to make the Herald a better newspaper in 1935 are rapidly appearing in these columns.

The publishers call attention to the column for farmers from the Washington bureau of the Herald.

The International Sunday School lesson will be enjoyed by thousands in this section. It is published well in advance of the date for which it is to be heard in churches.

A special column on sports gives you the latest and most interesting digest of the national games.

Then there is Louisa's letter an intimate and impersonal talk on human experiences with lots of good advice.

These combined with the local coverage of news events makes the Herald an outstanding local paper in 1935.

TAX INCREASE FOR GYMNASIUM BUILDING

Formal request for municipal aid for a proposed gymnasium for the High School led Tuesday night to a tantative call for an election to vote a 10c tax.

This tax would be listed as an increase to the school tax in the city's portion of the $15,000 requested. J. C. Martin of the school board was spokesman for the delegation appearing before a called meeting of the council arranged by Mayor C. C. Smith.

Application will be made for a Public Works loan from the government if the people authorize the additional tax. The committee in charge is also considering a plan to seat the football field.

The election, if called, will be held on the second Tuesday in April.

COMMITTEES WILL WORK FOR CLUB

A period of intense activity for the Chamber of Commerce according to President E. C. Cole, issues from the meeting on Tuesday night.

The immediate future plans center about the all important election of officers, a new method now in use. The annual membership meeting will be held on the night of March 12.

Committees have been named to bring this meeting to a successful conclusion. A committee has been named to conduct the election. Ballots are expected to be in the hands of Secretary Paden this week end.

A committe has been appointed to arrange for the banquet; another for program and another for the place and menu. A special committee is also named on publicity.

McLane & McLane Making Shopping Attractive Here

McLane & McLane's Grocery, long established center of better food bargains and buying, come forward this week with big inducement for shopping in Cameron.

These sales given by this big store at stated intervals are always genuine bargain givers. Newspaper advertising has helped the store to carry its messages to thousands in the territory.

Of interest this week will be the large display carried in the Herald. "We have the goods and we have the price and these two things make buying profitable at our store," said Mr. McLane.

MUST DIE IN CHAIR FOR EAGLET DEATH

Bruno Richard Hauptmann was convicted at Flemington, New Jersey by a jury shortly after ten o'clock Wednesday night for the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby. The Eaglet was stolen from his crib in the mansion at Hopewell in March, 1933. Months later his tiny body was found buried in a shallow grave near the estate.

Hauptmann was given the extreme penalty and must die in the electric chair on March 18.

Wihin 48 hours the stolid German carpenter whose iron nerve found him unshaken in the face of the verdict of death, will be taken to the death house at Trenton. He made no comment other than to request his lawyer come to his cell Thursday morning.

Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, announced immediately he would appeal "to the highest court in the land."

A jury that had searched for a verdict since 11:13 a. m. filed into the court room at 10:44 tonight and returned a verdict of "guilty as charged in the indictment."

Solves Atrocious Crime

That verdict solved for all time, so far as the state of New Jersey is concerned, the riddle of the Lindbergh crime. For the indictment charges that Happtmann alone planned and executed the kidnapping that occurred almost three years ago on the slope of Sourland mountain, and that nowhere in the world are there any accomplices.

The court room was electric with tension as the jury, led by the scolarly foreman, Charles Walton, filed into the box. Hauptmann was sitting in the same seat he had occupied since the trial started, handcuffed to his guards.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who had attended every session of the trial, was absent tonight.

Lloyd Fell, the court clerk, stood up at his table in front of the bench and asked:

Fateful Words

"Jurors, have you reached a verdict?"

"We have," said Walton, holding a slip of paper in his hand.

"How say ye, guilty or not guilty?"

Dead silence spread through the room and then Walton's voice cut above it, clear and loud.

"We find the defendant, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, guilty of murder in the first degree."

Hauptmann had been ordered by the court to stand up while the jury returned its verdict.

Not a muscle in the prisoner's body quivered as he heard the words that doomed him. Color crept up his neck and into his cheeks until his face was flaming red.

Three seats away sat his wife, her face chalky white, while her eyes stared away into nothing.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz moved toward the judge's bench.

Asks Immediate Sentence

"Your honor," he said, "I move for an immediate sentencing of the prisoner."

In a voice that shook with emotion, Justice Thomas Trenchard leaned over the bench and said:

"It is the duty of the court to impose the sentence of death on this defendant within the week beginning March 18, 1935."

Good Merchandising All Round Service Says Leland Green

To provide in Cameron a market for every kind of farm commodity and at the same time supply the needs of farmers, has been the ambition of Leland Green, Sr., of the Green & Boedeker store in Cameron.

"I believe we have achieved this goal," said Mr. Green, "for in our stocks are to be found every item the country needs and we take special pride in our market facilities. We buy everything the farmer has to sell, even his livestock. To give Cameron a store that meets every condition of business has been our aim, and we are proud to say that we believe we have accomplished it."

The big store is a department enterprise with each section well stocked to the ceilings to fill up the departments with two cars received this week in addition. This store has a special sale on this week, extending buying opportunites to all parts of the territory.

Newspaper advertising has been responsible in large measure for the rapid growth of the Green & Boedeker enterprises here.

Mr. Hefley has been in bed for some time. He has many friends in Milam county and over the state who will regret to know of his continued illness. Recently was published a news story of early days in Cameron written from comments made by Mr. Hefley. In this issue an old friend, Joe Sisson of Mounds, Oklahoma, writes a letter to Mr. Hefley.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Robinson have returned from a visit with friends in Dallas.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE SHOULD BE LIQUID

(Ask any doctor)

For your own comfort, and for your children's safety and future welfare, you should read this:

The bowels cannot be helped to regularity by any laxative that can't be regulated as to dose. That is why doctors use liquid laxatives.

A liquid laxative can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

The right liquid laxative dose gives the right amount of help. When repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, natural laxatives that form no habit — even in children. Its action is gentle, but sure. It will clear up a condition of biliousness or sluggishness without upset. Every druggist has it.

Being About People and Things In General

W. G. Lock of Yarrellton, young progressive farmer of that section, was a business visitor in Cameron Thursday of last week. He is a reader of the Herald having selected it for 1935. Mr. Lock had a novel experience with the government on his acreage cut and lint allowance. He farms good land, perhaps in the best section of Milam county. During two years of the 5 year period on which the allowance is made by average, he had two bad years, producing 9 and 11 bales. In normal years he made as high as 26. The allotment given him was not satisfactory and not having been able to get an adjustment at the local office, he wrote a letter to Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture. Some time later he was given tags for more than 1800 pounds of lint or about three and a half bales tax free. Mr. Lock thinks this is just one of many instances where the bankhead bill hurts the small farmer in his allotment, but realizes that the law has had a good effect upon general price conditions and gladly cooperates.

Leo Laake of the Laake Drug Store in Santa Fe town is among the many readers in Cameron to enroll in the 500 club. He will receive his first issue this week as a club member. Mr. Laake has advanced his reading date to 1938 and will be a Herald reader for the next three years. Born and reared in this vicinity he has many friends here and his business has enjoyed a good patronage. Mr. Laake is a world war veteran and saw service in France.

From Yarrellton comes the name of George W. Blanset, pioneer citizen to be added to the reader list in that section. The publishers greatly appreciate this selection on the part of Mr. Blanset and trusts he may find many things of interest in the Herald this year. Mr. Blanset has lived in the Yarrellton section for many years and is one of the leading citizens of that community always taking active interest for the betterment of his community. His subscription was brought to the Herald Thursday by his son in law, W. G. Lock.

The many friends of Mrs. W. L. Lutner will be glad to know that she is greatly improved from an attack of influenza at her home in Cameron. Her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Allen is here with her mother who is now able to be up about the house. Mr. and Mrs. Allen now live in Bell county and their many friends here will be glad to have this word of them. Mrs. Lutner has been a reader of the Herald for many years and recently sent the paper to her son, Dr. Thomas R. Lutner in Lawton, Oklahoma. Her husband, the late Dr. Lutner of Cameron read the Herald when the late Oscar McAnally was editor and publisher.

Ralph Michalka of Cameron Machine Shop is among many to enroll in the 500 reader increase club to the Herald this week. Mr. Michalka has the thanks of the publishers for selecting the Herald. Cameron Machine Shop has recently taken on the John Deere agency and is stocking implements and tractors. The shop is one of the largest busines concerns in the city.

J. T. Krull of Milano was in the city Friday to attend to business and has renewed his Herald for another year. Krull owns 71 acres of land in the sand country but is fortunate enough to have obtained some fine cotton land. In times he has made as high as a bale to the acre. This year he will plant some cantaloupes. On his farm is a balanced crop each year. He believes that the ultimate solution of farming problems is a controlled production, but prefers that this be done by farmers, if possible. Unrestricted planting of tomatoes resulted in over production and he is afraid the cantaloupe crop will be excessive. He is a successful farmer because he has adopted and followed an intelligent program with every farm need being taken care of on his farm. The publishers are glad to welcome Mr. Krull as a reader again in 1935.

Henderson Walker, former county surveyor, is among the large number of Cameron readers who receive their copy of the Herald for the first time this week. He has enolled in the 500 club increase of readers to the Herald. Last week Mr. Walker returned from Goliad where he went to return a fine Trigg fox hound that left Cameron on January 4. The publishers appreciate this reader support from Mr. Walker.

Adolph Stoebner who gets his mail on route 1 out of Rosebud in the Travis community, will read the Herald in 1935. His name was added to the list here Saturday by Alfred Stoebner of Burlington who has been a reader for some tims. The publishers appreciate this reader support and trust that Mr. Stoebner will find much of interest in these columns this year.

Andrew Bodirsky of Cameron joins the big reader movement of the Herald. He will receive his first copy of this newspaper this week at his home address on City route 1. Mr. Bodirsky came to America when a small child from Germany, reared a family and now lives alone in the city, his children having grown up and left the old home nest.

NOLAN'S PUNISHMENT WAS UNJUST

Phillip Nolan suffered more than was quite necessary for this crime he committed. It was true that a traitor is classed by some as an unforgivable crime, and some are even slain for their misdeed, but in this particular instance the victim's sentence was too much.

Nolan was a man of leadership and government. He would have done exceedingly well at many posts that his boat came in contact with, and proven himself a worthy and helpful passenger.

Nolan's case should have been considered in later years, for if any official had looked into his case he would have readily seen that repentance had been gone through many times and that he deserved better at the hands of his country.

There are few men who will not lead a more profitable life if given another chance, and I am sure it would have been so with Nolan, for he expressed his love and desire for America many times. I think his punishment was unjust.

—Nell Vaughn.

LOOK AT THE FISH AGAIN

The idea of the story "Look at the Fish Again" is not so unknown to the Seventh Grades as one might imagine. If you ever wrote a seventh grade composition, you know what it is to go carefully over it to see that every (t) is crossed. Then you go over it to see that every (i) is dotted. Then you look again, to place every comma correctly and see that every paragraph is properly indented. Then you make another search for misspelled words, and then perhaps you go over it again, just to be sure about everything.

So, I think if I were ever given a fish to look at, I should not be at a loss if told: "Look again, look again."

—Caroline Chambers.

In the Garden of Eden, God planted many trees. Some trees were planted for beauty's sake and others for their usefulness.

Sunday School Lesson

by HENRY-RADCLIFFE

HEALING A LAME MAN

International Sunday School Lesson for February 24, 1935.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Then Peter said, Silver and Gold have I none but such as I have I give thee."—Acts 3:6.

(Lesson Text: Acts 3:1-10 4:8-12)

In our lesson two weeks ago we saw how the Holy Spirit visited Peter and the other apostles at Penticost, as a result of which Peter delivered his first great sermon to the people of Jerusalem, resulting in the conversion of around three thousand souls. Several months pass to the time of our present lesson. This event is related very probably because it marked the first persecution of the Christians at the hands of the Jewish religious authorities.

Peter and John entering the temple for prayer one afternoon, came upon a beggar at the beautiful gate who had been lame from birth. "The Beautiful Gate means, for us, the hour of opportunity that lies close to the hour of prayer," says Charles Cuthbert Hall. "What do I mean by that? I mean that those who enter into this experience of prayer will find lying all along the highway of life occasions for service, and powers for service which but for their experience in prayer they would neither have seen nor have been able to use. I believe that prayer not only keeps alive in us but keeps in working power influences which do not continue unless we continue in prayer. The discontinuence of prayer means to rob life of power."

The beggar, as he had done many hundreds of times, requested a gift of money, but peter realized the opportunity for a much more valuable gift. "Peter doth not thus speak before he be certain of the purpose and intent of God," said John Calvin. "And surely in these words he commandeth him to hope for some singular and unwonted benefit; yet here may a question be moved, whether they had power to work miracles so often as they would. I answer that they were ministers of God's power in such sort, that they did attempt nothing of their own will or when he knew that it was expedient it should be so. Hereby it came to pass that they healed one and not all. Therefore, as in other things, they had the spirit of God to be their guide and director, so also in this point."

Peter had no money to give the beggar but this did not prevent him from helping him. The Great Apostle realized the truth expressed by William Allen White that "service is the coin in which humanity's greatest debts are paid." Peter did not lament the fact that he could not give gold nor did he fail to realize that money is not the only means whereby help can be given. If every Christian man and woman would follow Peter's motto of helpfulness "What I have that I give thee," how much better the world would soon be. Very likely a number of those who read this column have often speculated upon the great good which one could do with a large fortune while entirely omitting to utilize the opportunity and resources which they actually have.

"The positive rather that the negative facts about Peter's life were decisive," says Charles R. Brown. The world is not much interested in what men do not have or in what they cannot do. What have you? What can you do? What do you believe? These are the significant elements in any life, and what is still more to the purpose what do you mean to do with these gifts? If you are ready to give such as you have in the way Peter did, then lame lives of all sorts can be set upon their feet and made to advance under their own steam."

Following the cure of the lame man a great crowd gathered in Solomon's porch and to them Peter delivered another stirring sermon about Jesus, in whose name and through whose power he advised them the miracle had been accomplished. Once again large crowds identified themselves with the new faith. However, Peter in his sermon touched on the resurrection of Jesus which caused the Sadduces to take offense, inasmuch as they did not believe in immortality. So Peter and John were put in prison and the next day brought before the Sanhedrin, the same authoritive body of the Jewis', religion and race which had condemned Jesus. To these rulers Peter delivered a spirited defense, proclaiming Jesus as the Christ in whom alone was salvation.

Peter before the Sanhedrin was a different man from the denying fisherman only a short while before. Something had happened to him and Dr. J. H. Jowett points out what this was: "He had been to the empty tomb. The awe of the resurrection is upon his spirit. And he had been by the lake on the morning of the reconciliation. The live coal from the altar of his Lord's love had touched him and had purged away the uncleanness of his denial. And he had been in the upper room at Penticost, and the mighty spirit had come upon him like wind and flame, endowing him with forceful and enthusiastic character. Now he can work for God; now he can burn for God! And this is how he has been transformed."

Gause Club Shows Progress This Year

"It won't be hard for our club to be a 100 per cent club this year," says Doris Key, president of Gause 4-H Club.

"We have 10 girls enrolled and 10 cutting beds made with 1114 cuttings set out," Doris reported to the agent. Besides the yard work, each girl has her apron cut out, her sewing box equipped and a total of 19 garments made.

In other words, Doris says: "We can check off those January goals as complete."

Louisa's Letter

WATCH ENVIRONMENT OF CHILDREN

Dear Girls:

I heard a most interesting talk over the radio a few weeks ago. I think the speaker was Dr. Burgess, and he was discussing juvenile delinquency and its causes. He brought out the fact that the main reason for children going wrong was their living in a bad neighborhood. Statisticians have discovered this to be so. Not feeble mindedness nor poverty they say, but living among criminals is the pricipal cause for crime among the youth of today.

Of course, we know that a feeble minded person is more prone to commit a crime than a normal person, but environment has as much to do with the behavior of such people as it does with those who are mentally balanced.

Poverty, too, is a contributing cause to crime because it means that some people are ompelled to live in a neighborhood they would taboo if they had the money to live elsewhere. It means that many people of both sexes are crowded into rooms without privacy. On the other hand, a poor neighborhood is not necessarily a bad neighborhood.

Some of the best people in the world live in poor neighborhoods. But they are good in spite of their handicaps.

A committee in Chicago, I believe, has investigated the causes of crime in that city, and on its recommendation the government is planning, or perhaps has already started, tearing down the ramshackle buildings in 3 areas. They plan to put up modern buildings in the place of these former ones, and to have playgrounds and other forms of recreation for the children who heretofore have formed large gangs of petty criminals who turned into gangsters and murderers as they grew older.

A great many of us say, "Well, why tell us about such things? That is all right for a big city, but we live in a small pdace, and that kind of work doesn't concern us." But it does concern you. In your town, no matter how small, there are neighborhoods which make for immorality and crime among your children. And it is not improbable that these sore spots, even though they fail to affect your conscience now, will affect the lives of some of your family later on.

I know of no worthier undertaking than that of working for better homes and neighborhoods for our little brothers and sisters in our home town.

Yours,
LOUISA.

Rub on VICKS VAPORUB

Often, "mere colds" have serious consequences. It is dangerous to neglect a cold—equally dangerous to experiment with half-way measures.

Feel safe! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved external method of treating colds. No risks of constant internal "dosing", which so often upsets delicate digestions and lowers resistance when most needed.

DOUBLE DIRECT ACTION

Just rubbed on at bedtime, VapoRub fights a cold direct—two ways at once—by stimulation and inhalation. This combined poultice-vapor action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. Often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

For the recessional he played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Miss Wade was given in marriage by her cousin, T. A. Gilbert, of Brenham. She was attractively dressed in a late model of navy blue spring suit with red fox fur and accessories to match. Plants One Seed at a Time or More, If Desired

JOHN DEERE No. 110 COTTON AND CORN PLANTER

The John Deere No. 110 is the accurate one-row riding cotton and corn planter. It drops one cotton seed at a time—or more, if desired—in any quantity per acre. It saves seed and saves chopping.

The John Deere Saw-Tooth Type Steel Picker Wheel—an exclusive feature—picks out even the lintiest cotton seeds and plants them to the best advantage, at the same time removing lint and trash from the hopper. It handles wet seed and dry seed with equal efficiency.

The No. 110 is equipped with John Deere Natural Drop Seed Plates for planting corn, peanuts, feterita, milo, kafir, and other seed, giving you what users say is the most dependable seeding mechanism ever used on a planter.

We can furnish this planter with either shovel or runner style opener and with spring trip or friction trip covering shovels. Fertilizer attachment furnished as an extra.

Says New Deal Has Failed

New Dealers might listen to the report of The Methodist Federation of Social Service, which says that the New Deal has created greater unemployment, lowered the standard of living and "brought the bankers back into the control of the government."

We call attention to the statement not because we give it any great importance, but because many people think that the social order has been cut in two by the various measures of the administration. There are always two sides to a discussion, regardless of any motives or bias that may influence those who point them out.

Cameron's Plain Duty

If every adult in the world, except a few chosen teachers, were killed what kind of a race would we have after the children had been trained? Would they be better than the present adult generation, or would the race suffer much through the loss of the home life?

These may seem like foolish questions to the people in Cameron but there are thinkers in the world today who are hostile to the home on the ground that it does not do what it is supposed to do, properly train the young. These men say that the average child would be better off if taken from some of the present day mothers and fathers and raised in other environments. That they are right in a few cases everyone admits, but that they are right in a majority of cases would not be admitted, we take it, by anybody in Cameron.

Most of the parents in Cameron try to perform their full duty to the children they have. Sometimes they are over-zealous, or fail because of a lack of knowledge or other cause, but deep down in the heart of the parents is a hope that their children will be splendid men and women.

To consummate this parental ambition is the best work that can be done by this community. It owes something to the children in its midst and it is high time that we recognize the responsibility and assume it in full.

Most towns and cities take care of the adult needs as best they can, but seldom do the powers that control a city look after the diverse requirements of the children of the community. Cameron has many fine little boys and girls, whose future possibilities are almost unlimited, provided they receive the proper treatment by the citizens of Cameron. Their inherent talents can be discovered and developed and their little characters broadened and brightened by the right kind of treatment here. It is their right and they should have it, to the end that throughout their lives, they will look back on their childhood in Cameron as a happy time.

Let's give the hildren some of our serious thought and spend some of our money for their permanent welfare.

A Dangerous Resolution

The resolution introduced by Senator Borah, calling for an investigation into Mexican anti-religious outbreaks, persecution of Christians and mistreatment of American citizens, is a dangerous move.

The text of the resolution, to begin with, it condemns the Mexican government in the name of humanity, etc."

Aside from the fact that such a resolution will fan the fires that burn below the Rio Grande, what has the United States Senate got to do with the affairs of Mexico. Why should those who oppose entry into a World Court because it might entangle us in European affairs attempt to project this nation into Mexican affairs?

If rights of American citizens have been abridged in Mexico the Government of the United States, by proper representations, can probably protect them. Certainly, the Senate has nothing to do with the question at its present stage.

A Sorry Spectacle

Some weeks ago we depreciated the spectacle being made of the Hauptmann trial in Fleming, New Jersey.

Newspapers, news reels and radio have combined to make a national circus out of a serious trial, involving the life of an accused man and an effort on the part of the State to punish the criminal guilty of the heinous crime against the Lindbergh baby.

We are glad to notice, of late, that several eminent thinkers have likewise criticised the publicity attending the trial. Among them are some of the writers and speakers that have done so much to create a national furore.

Maintain An Open Mind

The young people of Cameron have many things to expect during the course of their lives. To refer back fifty years reminds us of the great improvements that have been made. The life of every person is easier today because of the inventions and developments that have come into common household use.

The material progress is certain to continue. Fifty years from the present time people will look back upon today with sympathetic sorrow for the "hardships" that we endure. Our boasted civilization will seem crude, indeed, beside the refinements then existing.

The lesson for us to learn from the truths outlined above is the ephemeral nature of present achievements and the necessity of keeping our minds out conservative ruts. Every man and woman can aid civilization in its upward trend by remaining alert mentally, always looking for improvements and never being completely satisfied with what we enjoy.

An open mind to accept future revelations is an asset woth possessing.

A Sap-Headed Argument

Every once in a while some pacifist tells us about how this country goes out into the world with a "peace pact in one hand and fifteen new cruisers in the other."

We suppose they would have us trot out naked and expect our pacific tendencies to keep any bad boy among the nations from slapping us in the face. They would, we suppose, prefer that Federal agents, hunting gangsters, move toward them without guns but with nice smiles on their faces.

What the gangsters would do to the detectives is just about what would happen to this country if it tried any such foolishness.

He Rightly Goes to Jail

The decision of the United States Supreme Court, upolding the sentence imposed by the senate upon William P. McCracken is indeed a healthy one.

Mr. McCracken was ordered by the committee investigating the air mail to produce certain records from his office. He declined, taking the position that he must respect the confidence that exists between attorney and client. Later, an agent of one of the clients removed several papers from his file and destroyed them.

For this he was adjudged in contempt of the Senate and sentenced to serve ten days in jail. It would certainly be soft for the crooks if they could become lawyers and technically respect the confidence of attorney and client and at the same time cover up their guilty tracks.

Subscribe For Herald

The Herald is one of the best advertising mediums for Cameron. You can check over the list of hustling, progresive, booming places and you will find that each one has its live-wire journalistic success. When you see a town unable to support a decent and modern newspaper you can check it off the list of those destined to enjoy more than average growth.

The publishers of this newspaper are making every effort to get aut a journal which is not only fair to the people it serves but also creditable to them. This newspaper goes into many sections of the state and surrounding states. Everywhere it travels it proclaims the mental and business conditions of Cameron.

The people of this community should support the home town paper to the extent of a yearly subscription as a matter of course. They can at least contribute partly towards its growth and enlargement. At the present price there is little danger of anybody being pinched through subscribing to a newspaper, or for that matter, of not getting more than their money's worth.

would be created. Such a community would hold half the population of Italy or two thirds the people of Spain and nearly one-sixth the population of the United States.

Senator Poage says that thousands of rural rehabilitation contracts have been entered into under directions of the Federal government "two or three months ago and no money has been forthcoming to pay the rentals on these contracts. Where the estimated federal relief to Texas was over three million dollars for February, a mere quater million was received from Washington." The Senator says he hopes Texas will have nothing further to do with distribution of Federal aid except to see that its remaining five millions is spread over as long period as possible.

Of the number of people on relief rolls it is estimated that ten million are receiving direct aid. President Roosevelt in speaking of direct relief said: "To dole out relief in this way is to administer a narcotic, a subtle destroyer of the human spirit. Work must be found for the able bodied but destitute workers." That is now why there is pending the Four Billion Eight Hundred Million work relief bill. Upon the question of whether it is cheaper to feed the poor than to supply the profit system with fat contracts in public works has stirred Congress to fever heat.

On the second Tuesday in April the election will be held for the purpose of selecting three Aldermen for the Council. Mr. Davis wants to be one of the three selected and in justification of the confidence thus expressed by the voters of Cameron he would accept the commission with the view of giving the people a wholesome and energetic service in their government. He would be free to give any amount of time required to this office and his many friends know that he is well qualified for the place. He believes that conservative business methods should always be applied in city management and would lend his efforts at all times to safeguard the interests of the tax payers and to make the government function for all the people without favors or special privileges.

In announcing his candidacy for the place, Mr. Davis expressed his appreciation for the many who have pledged their support and in return he pledges in advance a sincere effort to justify in every way the confidence his election would imply from the citizenship of Cameron. He asks his friends in the city to give him an active campaign support for the office.

I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

How a nation-wide telephone network is organized

The Bell System is big, but its organization is not complex.

The A. T. & T. is parent company, service and research organization, and financial headquarters of the System. It owns Western Electric, which buys and manufacturers for the System at prices about a fourth below the prices of similar equipment in the competitive market. Jointly with Western, it owns Bell Laboratories, where science constantly seeks better and cheaper methods of giving you telephone service.

It owns more than 90 per cent of the voting stock of the 24 associated companies (of which the Southwestern Company is one) and it operates the long distance trunk lines linking the territories of these companies. Its staff carries on for these companies a constant search for more economical ways to give good telephone service.

Each part of the organization exists because the function it performs is essential to the job of giving good telephone service at fair cost to you.

$402,350.00 IN LOANS ASKED FOR IN MILAM COUNTY

No Hope Seen For Grants; County Will Not Match Fund

More than four hundred thousand dollars in federal grants for Milam county is the budget sent to the government offices in Fort Worth here Saturday by Judge Jeff T. Kemp following a meeting of the Commissioners Court when a county-wide demand list was made.

The petition for funds amounts to no more than a gesture because the county will not put up any funds for any of the projects listed. The whole procedure was described as a "lightning rod" adventure in the hope that the government might in some way allot funds to the county.

There is pending in Congress now a request for Fifty Million Dollars for Texas roads. Milam County's road situation is desperate. Practically all lateral roads are in bad state of repair. Included in the grand total of amounts asked are municipal allotments in Rockdale. The projects are as follows, and amounts to $402,350.00:

Graveling road and topping with asphalt from Highway No. 44 to Conoley 18 miles, $40.00.

Graveling road from Oak Hill to Pleasant Hill by the way of Eagle, 6 miles, $10,000.

Graveling and topping with asphalt road from Sandy Creek to elevation, 12 miles, $30,000.

Improvement of Highway No. 36 at Milano 20 miles to Highway No. 43, the sum of $20,000.

Road from Yarrellton to Meeks, about three miles graveling and topping with asphalt, $5,000.

Road from Ad Hall to Thorndale by way of San Gabriel through Norman Valley, about 22 miles, asphalt topping, $18,000.

Would Buy And Improve Ground Bryant Station

"Tell any Indian who kills women and children that he is a squaw and I will never shake hands with him again," said Sam Houston when the report reached him that red men then stationed at Bryant Station reservation in Milam county threatened to go on the war path.

This bit of history is recalled with the application made to the federal government for funds to purchase and beautify a park site at Bryant Station.

The statement quoted is in a letter written by Sam Houston to Major Bryant, now in possession of Judge Jeff T. Kemp. The body of Benjamin Bryant some years ago was taken from Bryant Station to Austin and buried in state cemetery.

Balanced Garden Gives Deeded Diet

A garden plan which will provide the exact amount of vegetables for her family has been made by Jessie Brashear, Garden Demonstrator for the Davilla 4-H Girls Club.

In planning for enough vegetables to be used fresh, canned and stored, Jessie figures for her family of five the following number of row feet will be needed.

750 feet of leafy vegetables, consisting of spinach, English peas, mustard, Swiss chard, snap peas and beans.

750 feet of starchy vegetables, which will be corn, sweet potatoes and Irish potatoes.

750 feet other vegetables, consisting of carrots, beets, onions, radishes, egg plants, cucumber, squash, sweet pepper and lima beans.

600 feet of tomatoes.

Jessie will take over the family garden, supervise the planting, canning and building the family pantry for her family.

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

HAS LITTLE CHANCE

CATTLE PRICES IMPROVE.

FARM PRODUCTS GAIN.

TO AMEND THE AAA.

The relation of the American farmer to our national economy, rather than the problems of agriculture, have placed him in a different position, says Gardiner C. Means, economic advisor to the Department of Agriculture.

What does he mean? Simply that the farmer has been forced to deal with the large business units in buying and selling. Agricultural implements and fertilize" are, as industry would say, under control. In selling to packers, milk distributors tobacco manufacturers and sugar refineries the producer finds no free market.

The individual farmer, standing alone, has little chance against such a combination. He is attacked flank and rear. He buys from organized sellers and he sells to organized buyers.

Rapid recovery of cattle prices is hailed as evidence of returning prosperity to a considerable segment of agriculture.

The upswing if prices has passed the 1930 levels and experts foresee a continuing rise, declaring that the reduction of the cattle in the country by about 10,000,000 head has eliminated the huge surplus that all but prostrated the cattle raisers.

In 1929 cattle raisers had high prices but as the depression influenced the market the prices sagged. Shipments were held up until there were it is estimated, 67,000,000 head of cattle in the United States. The present figure, it is believed, is around 57,000,000.

Improved income for cattle raisers will undoubtedly be reflected in the dairy industry and values of dairy herds will go up. This will augment the general buying power of agriculture generally and mean something to other business industry.

Farmers who read this column probably understand the use of index figures to check up on price movements. Roughly, it is average prices of a number of products with those of a selected year represented by 100.

Based on the year 1926, farm products, during 1934 showed wide variation, but gained a score of 65.3—that is, they were 55.3 per cent of the 1926 prices. For comparison let us note that the figure for 1933 was 51.4 and that for 1932 was 48.2.

Farm prices moved from a low in January to the high of September. For the year as a whole, grains were up over 40 per cent, livestock and poultry 18 3-4 per cent, and other farm products, including cotton, eggs, fruit, hay, milk, tobacco, potatoes and wool 26 1-3 per cent.

In order to know what these index numbers mean let us record that wholesale commodity prices of all classes for 1934 were 74.9, compared with 65.9 for 1933 and 64.8 for 1932. So while farm prices made a gain, relative to other products, they have not attained the mythical and sought after parity.

Secretary Wallace has little fear that our cotton growers will be out of business by foreign production. He says that expansion of production abroad has been rather insignificant and potentialities for further increase are limited.

According to figures offered by Dr. Tugwell there has been a sharp reduction in cotton stocks abroad. This indicates that foreign purchasing of our cotton will be resumed on a larger scale.

Changes will be sought in the AAA but whether they will get by the opposition that halted the process in the Senate last year remains to be seen.

At any rate, the President has requested Senator Smith, leader of the attack on the famous "clarifying amendments" to consult with Secretary Wallace, and other officials as to ways in which to bring the act into line with the needs of agriculture.

The President points out that 20 months' actual experience have produced situations that could not be foreseen and that changes are intended to meet them and adapt the act to the "best interests of farmers."

Rockdale Athletic Association Gives Annual Statement

High School athletics, for many years indefinite in their management as to good business methods, may be said to have now come under better methods.

The public who support athletics get the benefit of all possible information as to receipts and disbursements and the general standing of these departments in the schools.

A notable example of this is the recent financial statement published by John M. Weed, President and W. H. Cooke, Secretary-Treasurer for the Rockdale High School Athletic Association. Not only does the statement serve to show the patrons where funds have been applied, it shows a good record for the season.

Thus far the Cameron Athletic Association has not published a statement.

In Rockdale the total receipts amounted to $2047.54 with an expenditure of $2011.33. Receipts from each gate is shown. The Cameron-Rockdale game brought in gross $664.10.

WARNING!
Watch others Copy G-3 claims, but remember: 1. Before a tire can give "Non-Skid Mileage" it must have REAL "Non-Skid." G-3 gives Center Traction—non-skid diamonds where they can dig in and GRIP. 2. The Body under a wide, flat, heavier tread must be able "to take it" too. Supertwist Cord (Goodyear patent) supports new G-3 tread easily.

The G-3 Is Better Than We Say It Is!

Yes sir—people who got the new G-3 All-Weather before it was advertised and have driven this marvelous tire many thousands of miles, are singing its praises louder than our advertising does! Particularly do they insist that the new G-3 gives better than the "43% more non-skid mileage" we advertise! Which is an unusual situation, we admit—but not so surprising because: actually the new G-3 is the greatest tire that was ever built. All we ask is, before you buy tires give us a chance to show you why G-3 users boost it even stronger than we do!

GREATEST HORSE RACE.

THE AUTO'S FASTEST MILE.

SARAZEN AGAINST BETTING.

VENZKE AMAZES SPECTATORS.

TWO GREAT RUNNERS WIN.

ARNERA WOULD FIGHT.

MACK'S NOBLE EXPERIMENT.

CARDINAL HOUD-OUTS.

Racing enthusiasts are turning their eyes to Santa Anita track in California where the world's greatest handicap will be staged on February 23rd, with Equipoise, Cavalcade, Hate, Statesman and other thoroughbreds going to the post for the $100,000 event.

Cavalcade, Mrs. Dodge Sloane's champion 3-year-old and Kentucky Derby winner, appears to rule the favorite, having shown impressive form in tests at Columbia, S. C., his winter home, and on the track in California. The sentimental favorite is undoubtedly Equipoise, gallant 7-year-old veteran, who will set a new high record for total winnings if he can make this last effort successful against such a field, while carrying top weight. Mate, just back from Europe will dispute the issue, as will Statesman, the English horse. Incidentally, Equipoise holds the American record for the mile.

Speed fiends will keep their eyes on Daytona Beach, Florida, where Sir Malcolm Campbell, English insurance man, will gamble his life on the sands in an effort to better his world's record for one mile in an automobile. In his Bluebird racer he hopes to pass the 300 miles an hour mark. The 5 ton vehicle is being tuned up and its 2,600 horsepower engine will hum along the trail when conditions are "right." This may come before this is read or it may come any day for the British speed demon is anxious to complete the event before the 22nd of February. His former record, made in 1933, is 272.108 miles an hour.

Let's give a hand to Gene Sarazen, who pased up the Agua Caliente and won the first open, worth $10,000. Sarazen does not believe that golf can stand the type of betting one sees at horse races. He thinks golf a game and must continue to be. Moreover, no one playing a tournament could make a single mistake in tournament play without somebody throwing suspicion around on account of the betting. Sarazen is right. Golf, like baseball, will thrive, if at all, without professional betting.

The rivalry of Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron on the tracks is one of the interesting stories of sport but rarely has a third man edged himself into the picture like Gene Venzke in the Wannamaker mile recently run at New York. While the crowd watched the leaders battle each other in five meets there has been many a heart won by Venzke's great sportsmanship in keeping after them. Well, the other day, he just about stole the show. All set to see Bonthron and Cunningham race it out the spectators got their thrill when the Pennsylvanian forged past Princeton's star and all but beat out the great Kansan.

For the first time the Penn stylish managed to separate the other pair at the finish. So observers throught that he might have won had he delayed his bid for victory a little later but this, in our opinion, is doubtful in view of Cunningham's tremendous finish. He was opening up a gap at the end, being seven yards ahead. Bonthron, soundly beaten, was 20 yeards in the rear of Venzke, but mention should be made of the fact that he has been training under difficulties. Cunningham scored his fifteenth triumph over Venzke and even his score with Bonthron at three-all. Venzke, however, strictly an underdog during this spectacular rivalry of his opponents, got his first victory over Bonthron.

At the same place Charles Hornbostel, of Indiana University, set a new world's record for the 600-yard event, making the distance in one minute, 11.3 seconds. This wipes out the 10-year-old mark of Allen Helffrich by the scant margin of three-tenths of a second. The bespectacled runner had already won the 1,000 yard run and lacked only a second of equaling the world's record for that distance. Then, in the 600 he was off to a bad start but uncorked a dazzling sprint to overhaul Ivan Fuqua and Milton Sandler, who seemed to burn themselves out in the early stages and were unable to match his long strides as he broke the tape at the finish.

Weighing 268 pounds, Primo Carnera recently flew into New York to beg for a boxing match. The giant Italian is confident that he can whip anybody, including Max Baer, and wants the chance. If he can't get at the champion he is ready to take on anybody that blocks his path to another try at the title. This includes, he says, Art Lasky, James Braddock, King Levinsky, Steve Hamas and Max Schmeling. He glowed with confidence and said he could be ready to fight in three weeks. Only 28 the big boy of the ring thinks his best years are ahead of him and wants to "get the title back."

Now that all the baseball managers are telling us why they will lead a championship outfit to the flag, we hear from one Tom Kearney, of St. Louis, who not only gives his ideas but stakes money of the realm against all comers at his odds. For the season about to commence he quotes odds, that being backed by real money, command attention. He lays even money on the Cardinals to repeat and 3 to 2 against the Tigers to come through, 5 to 2 against the Yanks, 3-1 against the Indians, 4-1 against Boston Red Sox, 8-1 against Washington's Senators, 20-1 against the Athletics and 40-1 against the White Sox and Browns. For the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants the betting professor will lay 3 to 1 against them.

One of the "noblest" experiments in baseball for the current season will be Connie Mack's effort to make Jimmy Fox take the place of Mickey Cochrane behind the bat. Foxx, you know, began behind the plate, but was shifted to first base for the obvious reason that Cochrane had the receivers job in the bag. As a first baseman Foxx has few equals and as a home-run hitter he ranks with the best. If he can come through behind the plate, hold his batting eye and escape injuries, and help develop Mack's young pitchers he will be valuable. And, inasmuch as Connie believes his club will be in the fight "if a couple of my young pitchers come through" he might not be so far from the main trail in putting the experienced Foxx behind the plate.

Last week found the champion Cardinals facing salary wrangles with the one and only Dizzy Dean as well as Joe "Ducky-Wucky" Medwick, youthful left fielder. The Dean skirmish was somewhat unexpected in view of the general idea that the star hurler had come to terms some weeks ago. Dizzy says he wants $25,000, at least, instead of the $17,000 offered him. Cardinal officials say the hurler will get about $30,000 above his baseball salary from outside sources and that no official word has been received from the boxman as to any hold-out plans. Medwick, said to have gotten $4,000 last season wants $10,000 this season in view of his hitting and playing importance to the team.

SIT back in the rear seat of the 1935 Ford V-8—and change your idea of what an automobile ride is like!

A way has been found to give rear seat passengers the comfort of "a front seat ride!"

Ford has done this with a new engineering development—Full-floating Springbase with Comfort Zone Seating.

You might have been satisfied with nothing more than Comfort Zone Riding and the proved Ford V-8 engine together in one car. But the 1935 Ford V-8 offers you many other features almost as important.

It is a roomier car—with more leg room—wider, deeper seats. It strikes a new note in streamlined beauty. Interior fittings are almost luxurious. Large, soft-pressure tires are standard. Safety glass all around comes at no extra cost.

And, in addition to low purchase price, the new Ford V-8 gives you traditional Ford economy. It uses no more gas than a 4-cylinder car—has low oil consumption—seldom needs valve grinding or carbon removed.

Mounds, Oklahoma, Reader Sends Letter to Sam Hefley On Old Days in Cameron

Sam Hefley who is critically ill at his home here has received a letter from J. J. Sisson of Mounds, Oklahoma. Mr. Sission is a former resident of Cameron and writes of old times in response to a story published in the Herald some weeks ago giving an account of the early days by Mr. Hefley. The letter from Mr. Joe Sisson follows:

Mounds, Okla., Jan. 28, 1935.

Mr. Sam Hefley,
Cameron, Texas.

Dear Sir and Friend:

There is no doubt but what you will be surprised to get this letter from me, but after seeing your write up of the old time early days of Cameron and knowing that you are confined in your home I can't help but think you might enjoy knowing that some of the old time Cameron folks appreciate it and enjoy reading about those old times you have been writing about, as they are days that will never return, and especially in Cameron.

I get the Cameron Herald every week, and I look it all over as it is still my home town paper, and I like to hear of the things being done by men whom I have known all my life and I get a big kick out of knowing what is being done at Cameron, and well do I remember the old ferry boat and the dangerous ford on the road to Rockdale, and the old swimming hole near the Tucker farm where we spent lots of our Sunday afternoons and other of our boyhood days.

That does not seem very long ago at that, when you, Jeff Kemp and Penn Wolf were just boys, but lots of things have happened and things have changed in many ways, yet it is nice to stop and think how grateful we should all be that we can think back about the good old time we had then.

I have lived here in this small town which is 25 miles south of Tulsa, for the past 34 years, have a real estate and insurance business, and am managing to make a living and keep the sheriff off of me, so I guess that is better than failing, as I have seen lots of my friends do in the past 5 years.

I have a family of three hildren; 2 sons, one of them is and has been Postmaster for the past seven years, and the oldest has been with the National Bank of Tulsa for nine years, and my daughter lives here. Her husband is in business here. My wife being old time East Tennessee stock, and we enjoy our children very much, as they have some children that makes us grand parents.

Trusting that this letter may find you improving, and that it may be my pleasure to visit Cameron this summer, and extend my sympathy and sorrow to John McLane's family in their loss, I am,

Yours truly,
JOE SISSON.

RAMSEY'S NURSERY

A STUDY of the past reveals that corn yields have a pronounced tendency to return to normal or better following seasons of abnormally dry weather. As indicated by the shaded columns in the above graph, the production per acre after the three severe drought years of 1894, 1901, and 1930 rose from a low average of about 19.6 bushels to approximately the normal United States annual average of about 26 bushels per acre. The yield of both barley and oats also was higher in two out of the three seasons following years of unusual drought.

The reasonable expectation in 1935, therefore, is normal or near normal corn yields. This fact has an important bearing on corn planting intentions for the coming spring. Material adjustments in cattle and hog numbers since a year ago have lowered corn requirements to such an extent that even the average acreage of recent years would produce, at normal yields, a burdensome surplus of corn.

Under the 1935 production adjustment contract, being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, corn-hog farmers will have an opportunity to control corn acreage in keeping with these reduced requirements and the expectation of a normal yield per acre.

COUNTY AGENT URGES MAXIMUM ACREAGE CUT

Base For 1935 Reduction Discussed By Control Board

The following is a copy of a letter received by me from F. O. Montage, County Agent, Matagorda County:

"The cotton acreage reduction program for 1935 provides for a reduction of 25 per cent of the base acreage up to 35 per cent reduction. Either reduction may be taken by the producer making a contract for 1935, however, in considering the circumstances regarding a reduction, it seems advisable to reduce the full 35 per cent.

"The Bankhead law, which is in force for 1935, will allow 10,500,000 bales to be ginned tax free. This, of course, will be allotted similar to last year. Under the increase allowed in cotton acreage for this year o normal production of cotton will result in approximately 12 to 13 million bales being produced, leaving a million and a half more bales to secure certificates for or pay the tax on. Therefore, any producer planting the extra 10 per cent acreage will lose the rental payment on that acreage and also have to pay the tax on the cotton produced over his Bankhead allotment. These facts should certainly be considered in making your contract for 1935.

"Also please note that certificates in 1935 will cost $5.67 per 100 pounds or the certificates for a bale of cotton will cost you $28.35 per bale. And if cotton should be cheaper in 1935, which seems likely, then the tax on certificates will leave you nothing for yourself for having raised the cotton. If you increase your acreage by reducing only 25 per cent you will lose on your benefit payments which has been looked upon by both farmers and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as good crop insurance. Your parity payments for 1935 will be 1 1-4c per pound on your farm allotment, whereas in 1934 it was only 1c per pound. Your rental payments will be at 3 1-2c per pound, the same as it was in 1934.

"We urge that you consider taking the maximum reduction of 35 per cent of your base acreage in 1935 in every case. Upon the best information we can get do we make the above statement. I am sure it will be to your best interests.

"When the 1935 application blanks arrive, you will be notified."

Trusting that you can in some way use the above and in so using it that it will help the cotton producers of Milam county in making their reduction in 1935. The Milam County Control Committee together with the County Agent, urge that if at all possible that the producers of this county take the maximum reduction of 35 per cent.

Yours truly,
Geo. Banzhaf, County Agent,
Milam County, Texas.

EMPLOYMENT GIVEN BY REGISTRATIONS

How labor may better use the employment service of the United States Government is outlined in a recent article by W. Frank Persons, director, and released by R. C. Moody of the local employment bureau.

The article stresses registration and points out that in Germany and England registration is necessary to collect unemployment insurance. Since July 1, 1933 there has been 13,679,000 register in the service. Of this number 7,835,000 have gotton jobs. The service keeps a complete record of the jobless.

Those who register should keep their records active by reporting and re-registration at stated intervals. The system saves applicants the expense of job hunting. There are 800 offices in the United States.

No fees are charged for getting jobs. This is a part of the government relief plan, says Mr. Moody and urges all to register. "Unemployment is the worst form of insecurity," says Mr. Persons in his article.
